ABOUT 49 BURNING CONDORS

49 Burning Condors is a gothic witch rock band based out of Philadelphia, PA and is made up of a hodgepodge of souls: including Kimber Dulin (vocalist + lyricist), Christopher Michael (guitarist + pianist), Andriana Markano (violin), Zach Rinck (bassist), and Kat Wilson (Drums).

We thrive off the myths of malefic witches, lustful gods, and unholy ghosts bound to the Swamp -- slithering with its snakes. We worship this home and grave to human and beast alike.

Our acoustic style mirrors the fables passed down – tongue to tongue and ear to ear -- becoming more twisted and ruinous with every passing listen, with every gulp of whiskey around the fire.

BLACK WATERS

A culmination of our honed gothic witch-rock sound featuring melodic vocal harmonies, steel-body slide guitar and haunting violin.

Dark, Moody and Epic. Black Waters tells the mythos tale of Scylla while evoking powerful personal femme fatale themes.

The screaming guitar and dark bass of the chorus at the 1:27 mark is offset by the beauty and the melodic warmth provided by the violin and vocals. Dynamic musical changes and dark distortion builds to a haunting and chaotic crescendo at 4:10.
